The of Renewal Vigor

The most important step in this process is the restoration of the functions of digestion and assimilation to full and uninterrupted exercise, since it is upon their activity alone that the system can depend to replenish its dwindling store of energy. Among tonics which the voice of the people and the high professional endorsement approve as reliable, Hestert's Stomach Bitters has long been recognized as the best. Its properties as a medicated stimulant commend it to all persons suffering from the effects of fatigue, mental or bodily, as an immediate means of counteracting their effects; and in cases where loss of vigor is attributable to such weakening chronic causes as dyspepsia, affections of the kidneys and bladder, and the infirmities peculiar to age, it produces permanently beneficial results. Those twin obstacles to health and vigor, liver complaint and constipation, are also removed by it. It also prevents and cures malarial disease. n9 m-1

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5, 1885.

EDITOR TOMBSTONE:—Washington has assumed all of the bustle and activity characteristic of the National Capital at the commencement of an important session of Congress. The hotels are filled with strangers. It is generally believed that the coming session will be the most interesting since the war. Most of the members and senators are in town, and will be present at the opening of the session, though a majority have arrived during the past two or three days, and offer as an excuse for their dilatoriness the fact that as they believed that a very long campaign was before them they desired to devote as much time as possible to home affairs before leaving.
There are but few who think that the session will be finished before next August. Members appear, generally, to be reluctant to commit themselves with regard to any of the important matters that will demand their attention during the session, though it is generally thought that the Senate can be depended upon to take conservative action upon most of the important questions. There seems to be a hesitancy among the members about touching the financial question. There are nearly as many different theories among the silver men as there are individuals, though a majority unite in the opinion that the Bland law is objectionable and should be either modified or abolished.

At a caucus of Republican Senators which was held yesterday, the nomination of General Logan, for the office of President pro tempore of the Senate, was made unanimous, but the honor was declined by him, and the caucus was adjourned until this afternoon, when a selection will doubtless be made.

Many representatives assembled in the hall of the house yesterday, and much interest was manifest in the question of who would be the Republican nominee for Speaker. The New York members appear to be unanimous in their support of Hancock, and express the opinion that he is likely to secure the nomination. The other prominent candidates for the honor are Messrs. Reed, Long and McKinley.
The question is likely to be closely contested by the friends of each of these gentlemen, although the one who secures the nomination will be looked upon as the leader of the minority. The session is likely to be one of sensations. It is reported upon good authority that a prominent Senator will introduce a resolution as-soon as the Senate is organized, to investigate the affairs of the Pan-Electric Telephone Company, with the purpose of developing evidence to impeach the Attorney General.

As predicted in my letter of last week, the President on Wednesday last appointed Mr. Albert A. Wilson as Marshal of the District of Columbia. The selection of Mr. Wilson gives general satisfaction. He has for many years been identified with the District democracy, and the citizens consider his selection as an indication that the President fully recognizes the evils and injustice which have heretofore ensued from alien rule, and it is his intention to appoint citizens of the District to fill the offices within the District.

The annual session of the Federation of Organized Trades and Labor Unions of the United States and Canada, will be held in this city, beginning on Tuesday next. All of the trade and labor organizations in this country and Canada will be represented. One of the important questions to be considered at the meeting, will be the eight hour law, and the attention of Congress will be asked to the consideration of the question during the present session.

The annual sale of packages which have accumulated in the Dead Letter Office, is advertised to commence next week. Formerly the sales were held every two years, but of late the business of the office has increased to such an extent that it has been found necessary to hold them annually. The records of the office show that the past year was 4,843,099, or an average of 15,673 for each working day. Of this number 2,719,380 were sent to the office because they were uncalled for at the office to which they were directed. 112,648 were returned by hotel keepers, because departed guests to whom they were directed had failed to leave their address. 133,586 were held for insufficient postage. 1,797 because they contained unmailable articles. 314,719 because of their being illegibly addressed; while 14,134 bore no superscription whatever. The number of parcels of books, merchandise, clothing, needlework, &c., which will be sold to the highest bidders during the coming sale, will be about 90,000. A very large proportion of the most valuable parcels are addressed to foreign countries, and have been detained because they contain dutiable goods, or exceed the limit of size and weight. The proceeds of the sales are deposited in the U. S. Treasury.

There has not been such a rush of Congressional callers at the White House since the busiest office-seeking days last spring, as occurred yesterday. The President's order regulating the reception of visitors, applied only to the month of November, and its restrictions are now ignored. The President now listens to a good deal not relating strictly to public business.

A Dastardly Act.

This morning at about two o'clock after Frank Broad had closed his place of business, and was on his way home, going up Allen street and turning the corner of Seventh, he smelt a strong odor of coal oil; continuing on his way up Seventh street, he was startled to find a pile of woolen rags and sacks saturated with coal oil on fire up against the side wall of the large frame building belonging to Pasquale Nigro. Frank with considerable presence of mind hastily pulled off his overcoat and smothered the flames. Upon investigation it was found that a five gallon can of coal oil had been emptied on the rags, and that the side of the house had been saturated with the oil. The fiend who made the attempt if caught should be strung up. Had it not been for Frank Broad and others just happening to be on the spot and squenching the flames it is more than likely that the whole block would this day be a mass of smouldering ruins, as the entire block is composed of frame buildings. A reporter was informed this afternoon that the police had a clue to the perpetrator, and it is hoped that he will be brought to justice. Since the above was in type the police have been diligent in their investigations, and it is thought that they have spotted their man, said man not living very far from Comet saloon.

Beautiful Your Homes.

Many of our citizens have improved their homes by sowing grass seed and planting trees and vines, while many more regret that they have not done so. Those who were wise in the early days of the country are now reaping the fruit of their labor quite a number of gardens in this city bearing fruit of the choicest variety. Seeing the success attained, and the perfect adaptability of the soil, our citizens generally are now preparing to plant trees and vines, this being the proper season of the year in this latitude. Mr. Wm. Branch, the nurseryman and florist, on Fulton street, between Second and Third has just received from San Jose, Cal., the finest lot of fruit trees of every description, as well as grape vines, strawberry plants, rose bushes, etc. They were all received in excellent condition, and with proper care will make a thrifty growth the first year. It is just as easy to raise a fine fruit tree as a cottonwood. Give Mr. Branch a call, and see his new stock.

Attention A. O. U. W.

There will be a special meeting of Tombstone Lodge No. 3. A. O. U. W., to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at Joint services will be held by the Presbyterians and Methodists on Sunday following Christmas at the house of the latter. The Sunday Schools of the two churches will give a festival at Mining Exchange hall on Tuesday evening after Christmas. It is pleasant to see our brethren dwelling together in harmony.

This afternoon the Cornish Glee Club, headed by Frank Broad, invaded our sanctum and sang two or three songs in fine style. After the singing was over we learned that it was the twenty-eight anniversary of Frank's birth. THE DAILY TOMBSTONE congratulates Frank on obtaining seven years over his majority, and gratefully acknowledges the compliment of the Glee Club. Come again boys, we are always glad to see you.

Messrs. Barrows & Miller have purchased the saloon formerly occupied
